The Neolithic Revolution

La Draga, the hamlet of wonders

An exhibition promoted by the Archaeological Museum of Catalonia by means of Arqueoxarxa (Net of Museums and Archaeological Sites of Catalonia) about the Early Neolithic settlement of La Draga Banyoles, NE Iberia is displayed in the CSIC RESIDENCE OF RESEARCHERS (C/ Hospital 64, see sketched plan) until next 17th November. La Draga is a 7.400-year's old waterlogged site where many implements and utensils in wood and other organic matters have been preserved since Neolithic times.

The exhibition uses the comic as a pedagogical resource aimed at all types of audiences. The plot is about a young student introduces in the archaeological fieldwork, developing all the activities of an archaeological excavation and ends up being part of the research team of the site. Therefore, the tone of the sample is entertaining, not exempt from scientific rigor. Due to the itinerant nature of the exhibition, only inorganic remains are shown beside replicas of original organic pieces.

A referring catalogue to the exhibition (in Catalan) can be purchased online (€ 15) or free downloaded at the following link:
